

Adventures in Anthroposophic Education: Media, Morality and Imagination with Charlie Orphanides: How Top Gun Shaped My Life

What did Rudolf Steiner mean when he spoke of Imagination (with an uppercase "I")? Is there such a thing as morality without dogma and doctrine? How does media intersect and interact with our relationship to both Imagination and morality? And how did the 1986 Oscar winning film, Top Gun, influence the life of a Waldorf teacher? We will explore these questions in an interactive session, in hopes of experiencing a few answers rather than simply listening to them and find Waldorf Education as offering a potential antidote to many of the challenges we see young people facing in today's world.

Friday, November 13th
5:30 - 6:30 pm
Music Room