

Planning in Case of Emergency

It is very important that you plan ahead for times when unexpected things happen. For instance, you could become sick and not make it to the person's house or apartment to provide services. The weather could also prevent you from getting there when the person needs you.

In times like these, it is important to have a back-up plan with the person. Take some time to think about what you would do in those times of emergency.

- Who would you call first?
- Who would you call second?
- Do you have the phone numbers you need?
- Did you talk the person's case manager or service worker about a back-up plan?
- Do you have a plan with your CDAC member to let the person know when you won't be able to make it to the member's home?

In times when I cannot make it to the person's home, I will:

Call _____

Phone Number _____

CDAC and Taxes

At the end of each year, you will receive an IRS 1099 form for the CDAC money you have earned. CDAC earnings are taxable income. It is your responsibility to file state and federal taxes on this money. Even if you provide CDAC services to a family member, this money is NOT tax-exempt. You can consult a tax expert on claiming this money as income.
